LONDON, November 30.

THEY write from Constantinople, the 23th of September, That several Couriers arrived from Asia have brought the News of the total Defeat of the Turkish Army commanded by the Seraskier Gitzan, by the Persians, in the Plains of Shoshan; and that of 100,000 Men, and upwards, of which his Army consisted, there did not escape in the Whole above 18,000. The Schah Nadir, Kouli Kan, sent a great Body of Horse to break down the Bridge that the Ottoman Army had on the River Arpasat, which brought on their total Ruin; for, arriving on the Banks of that River, they not only found it impossible to repass it, by Reason of their Bridge being destroyed, but which was much worse, they found that Body of Horse posted on the other side the River, with a Line of small Field pieces before them, and the whole Persian Army in their Rear; by whom they were driven into the River, and there either drowned, or shot by the Cavalry on the other side. The Ottomans left on the Field of Battle their Tents, Ammunition, Artillery, military Chest, and the Seraskier's Treasure; which, altogether, amounted to several Millions. This bad News has occasion'd the calling of several Councils, in which the Expences of the War have been examined, and those of the last Campaign are computed at little short of 18,000,000. To replace this immense Sum, it has been resolved to lay a new Tax, but such a one as shall not reach the People; in short, his Sublime Highness has signified to the Princes of Wallachia and Moldavia, to the Turkish, Christian, and Jewish Clergy, and to other Persons who have been hitherto exempted from all Kinds of Impositions, that this is the proper Time to shew their Respect for a Government that has treated them so mildly, and that they may consult together, how to raise 20,000,000 for the Expences of the next Campaign, in the least oppressive Manner possible, only remembering, that rais'd it must be, and that in Time.

The French Ambassador at Stockholm has proffered to the Swedish Officers, that will enter in the Service of France, 2000 Livres for a Colonel, 1800 for a Lieutenant-Colonel, 1600 for a Captain, and 600 for every Subaltern. He has remitted to him for this Purpose 500,000 Crowns, and a great many Gentlemen offer to engage.

The Pleasure, Stapp, from Fowey to Carolina, is lost near Fowey, and only the Crew saved.

The Suspicions we had that the young Man who is with Ratcliffe, the pretended Earl of Derwentwater, and who calls him his Father, is the Pretender's second Son, seems to be confirm'd, not only from several Circumstances, such as his keeping the Cuff of his Coat over his left Hand to hide the two middle Fingers from being seen, they growing together; his throwing his laced Hat and Coat into the Sea, when he found he should be taken, and putting on a Leather Cap and Jacket; his Age, the Preference Mr Ratcliffe gives him on all Occasions; but from an Affidivat that has been made by a Person who knew him at Rome, and who swears that he is actually the Man.

The following is a List of the Prisoners on board the French Ship taken by the Sheerness Man of War, viz. Duke of Richlieu, Count Clermont, Lord Nairn, Lord Derwentwater, Lord Drummond, 16 other Persons of Distinction, the Pretender's youngest Son, who goes by the Name of Manley,

And One Million of Livres.

Spoken extempore by a Soldier the Day after he received a Flannel Waistcoat, thro' the Bounty of the Quakers

THIS Friendly Waistcoat! keeps my Body warm,
Intrepid now I march, and fear no Harm;
Beyond a Coat of Mail, a sure Defender!
Proof against Pope, the Devil, and Pretender!
The Highland Plaid of no such Pow'r can boast,
Arm'd thus, I'll plunge the foremost in their Host;
Exert my utmost Art, my utmost Might,
And fight for those, whose Creed forbids to fight.

On the 6th Instant died at Madrid, in the 94th Year of his Age, James late Duke of Ormond.

Dec 26. It is said the Elector Palatine will be included in the Treaty concluded between the Queen of Hungary, the Elector of Saxony, and the King of Prussia. That the following are some of the Articles, viz. The King of Prussia keeps Possession of Silesia, under the Guarantee of the Maritime Powers. That his Prussian Majesty obliges himself to send 20,000 Men to the Rhine, and to acknowledge the Emperor duely elected; and that the King of Poland as Elector of Saxony, shall also send 20,000 Men to the Rhine.

Jan 5. His Royal Highness having closely besieged the Rebels that were left in Carlisle, they put up a white Flag on the 30th ult. and demanded to capitulate, but were allowed no other Terms than surrendering Prisoners of War, which the Garrison accepted the same Day, recommending themselves to the Duke to intercede for them with his Majesty.

Whitehall, Jan. 7. The following is an Account of the Number of Rebel Officers and Soldiers, together with their Artillery, taken by his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland at Carlisle.

English Rebel Officers.

One Colonel, 5 Captains, 6 Lieutenants, 7 Ensigns, 1 Adjutant. And 93 Non Commission Rebel Officers, Drummers, and private Men.

James Cappock, of Lancashire, made by the Pretender Bishop of Carlisle.

Scotch Rebel Officers.

One Governor, 1 Surgeon, 6 Captains, 7 Lieutenants, and 3 Ensigns.

And 256 Non Commission Rebel Officers, Drummers, and private Men.

Those sitting French.

One Colonel, 2 Captains, 1 Serjeant, and 4 private Men.

Account of the Ordnance of the Rebels taken at Carlisle.

Six Brass one and half Pounder Guns with Carriages, 1 Brass Octagon with a Carriage, 3 Brass 4 Pounder Guns with Carriages, 4 Brass Cohorns, 2 Royals.

Newcastle, Jan 17. 'Tis said the Rebel Prisoners march'd out of Carlisle in the following Procession; 1. The Officers on Horseback, one after another, with their Legs tied under the Horse's Bellies, also their Arms, allowing Liberty to hold the Bridle, each Horse being tied to another's Tail. 2. The common Men on Foot, two abreast, each having their Arms tied, with a Rope going between. The whole Procession thus marched, with a Dragoon on Horseback, and his Sword drawn, leading Governor Hamilton's Horse, who went first, also another Dragoon in the Rear. The Foot were headed by 2 Dragoons as afore mentioned, one of which held the Rope that went between the Prisoners; also two in the Rear, with several others properly supporting the whole.

Dover, Jan 23. Our Fears from the Embarkation at Boulogne and Calais are at an End; as we have very certain Advice it is laid aside; and that the Troops have been marched away from those Places these Ten Days, some to Montreuil, others for St Omer's, &c.

Whitehall, Jan. 25. His Majesty having directed His Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland to repair to Scotland, to take the upon himself the Command of the Army there, his Royal Highness set out upon his Journey thither between Twelve and One this Morning.

CHARLES-TOWN, April 12.

Last Night after 10 o'Clock, a Proclamation was issued, summoning the several Members of the General Assembly, (which stood adjourn'd to the second Tuesday in May next,) to meet at the usual Place in Charlestown, on Monday next, on urgent Affairs, which immediately concern the Welfare and Security of this Province.

On Wednesday last arrived in this Harbour two Vessels from Lisbon, with the welcome and agreeable News, That his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, (who shares not only the Name, but also the Courage and Conduct of our Great and Glorious Deliverer King WILLIAM the Third) had entirely routed and defeated the Pretender's Eldest Son and his wretched Adherents; upon which joyful Occasion the Cannon were not only fired the next Day at Noon from Granville's Bastion, Castle-Johnson, the Tartar Man of War, and other Ships in the Harbour; but the Evening coreloded with Bonfires, Illuminations, and other usual Tokens of publick Rejoycing, when this poor Devil of a Knight Errant, dress'd up in a very grotesque Manner, with a wooden Head, &c. after the humorous Design of some very Loyal Jack Tar, was consign'd to the Flames, to the no small Comfort and Satisfaction of all true and hearty Lovers of the Protestant Religion, English Liberties, and the Hanover Succession.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman in Lisbon, to His Friend in this Town, dated Febr 24*th*, 1746

"A few Days ago arrived a Packet, with News not altogether agreeable, viz. That the Rebels and King's Forces had had an Engagement in Scotland, and the Action turn'd in Favour of the Former, who are now besieging Stirling Castle. The Duke and General Wade went up to London before this Affair happened. We daily expect the News of a War between France and Holland, the Dutch Ships here being ordered to sail under English Convoys. 'Tis said the French are now in Possession of Brussels, and besieging Antwerp —"

Extract of another Letter from the same Gentleman, dated February 28*th*, 1746.

"The French have published an Order, to make Prize of all Dutch Ships that shall be met with, having on board any Kind of Goods of the Growth, Produce or Manufacture of any Part of the Dominions belonging to their Enemies, altho' the same be legally bought by and belong to the Dutch."

Whitehall, Febr. 5. This Day at Noon, an Express arrived from his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, with the following Letter to the Duke of Newcastle.

Falkirk, Febr. 1st, 1746.

My Lord Duke of Newcastle

IN my last, of the 30th of last Month, I informed you of our Intention to march to the Relief of Stirling-Castle, when I wrote, that I hoped the Rebels, flush'd with their late Success, would have given us an Opportunity of finishing this Affair at once, which, I am morally sure, would have been in our Favour, as the Troops in general shew'd all the Spirit that I could wish, and would have retriev'd whatever Slips are past; but, to my great Astonishment, the Rebels have blown up their Powder Magazine, and are retired over the Forth at Frew, leaving their Cannon behind them, and a Number of their Sick and Wounded, besides 20 of our wounded Prisoners, taken at the late Affair, which I have found here. I hope to be at Stirling To morrow, from whence I shall be better able to inform you of all this strange Flight.

Brigadier Mordaunt, with the two Regiments of Dragoons, and Lieutenant General Campbell, with the Highlanders, are in Pursuit of them. I am Your affectionate Friend, WILLIAM.

From the LONDON GAZETTE Extraordinary, Feb. 6.
(Published by Authority)

Whitehall, Febr. 6. Late last Night another Express arrived from his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, with Letters dated Stirling Febr. 2d, giving an Account, that his Royal Highness arrived there at one o'Clock that Afternoon, without meeting the least Obstacle or Resistance, as Brigadier Mordaunt had also done the Night before, but too late to pursue the Rebels. Their precipitate Flight is not to be described. They were all to be at Perth the 2d. where, as their own Men declare, they would not stay for his Royal Highness to come up to them. When the Rebels heard that his Royal Highness was got to Linlithgow, they held a Council, and drew out their Men, declaring that they would meet him; but as soon as the Cannon and Baggage they lately took were moved off, they told the Country People, that they were going to meet a Reinforcement; but that, as they could not carry away all their Plunder, they would give it to them, and that it was in St. Ninian's Church, where they had made a Magazine of Powder and Ball; and when the Country People came to fetch it away, the Rebels attempted to set Fire to the Magazine, but fortunately the first Train missed, so that several escaped; but the second was so soon fired, that many poor People were blown up and buried in the Ruins.

After the Rebels had crossed the Forth, many of the Leaders told their Men to shift for themselves. They talk publickly of going from Perth to Dundee, and so on to Montrose, and his Royal Highness has sent proper Orders to Rear Admiral Byng, to prevent their getting off.

As soon as his Royal Highness can get the Bridge at Stirling mended, he will follow to Perth, and so on whilst the Rebels remain in a Body.

His Royal Highness is pleased to commend extreamly the Behaviour of Major General Blakeney, who, by his Conduct, as well as Courage, has sav'd the Castle of Stirling, which is a Place of the greatest Importance, from falling into the Hands of the Rebels. The Castle would have held out, but the Provision and Firing were almost consumed.
